

Dear Authors,

We are very delighted to introduce the first issue of Journal of Humanities and Social Sciences Studies (JHSSS) to academic researchers around the globe. The main goal of JHSSS is to expand our circle of readers and contributors and generate new knowledge about Humanities and Social Sciences Studies all over the world. We emphasize that JHSSS is a journal open to all scholars regardless of their religion, or background. It is our hope that you will take this opportunity to notify other scholars and researchers at your institution of our presence.

Journal of Humanities and Social Sciences Studies (JHSSS) is a double-blind peer reviewed open access journal. It aims to provide a high-level platform for academic researchers, scholars and practitioners all over the world to share latest findings, views, ideas, information and academic experiences in the form of written scholarly articles. Authors are encouraged to submit novel locally-and globally oriented original and unpublished research papers covering all areas of Humanities and Social Sciences. We are non-profit, and seek to collect and disseminate information and research on new trends of Humanities and Social Sciences. JHSSS publishes Original articles, Research articles, Reviews articles, Mini-reviews, Case reports, Commentaries, Editorials, Letters to Editor, Short reports, as well MA and PhD theses. Special Issues devoted to important topics Humanities and Social Sciences Studies will occasionally be published.

It is our mission with JHSSS to spread new knowledge about Humanities and Social Sciences throughout the entire world and to focus on promoting research among scholars and academic researchers. JHSSS is striving to provide the best platform for researchers and scholars worldwide to disseminate their latest research results and exchange views on future research. We recognize that our mission is a challenging one, and we will need all possible support from colleagues at all levels, including universities, public and private research centers, institutions and learning centers. We welcome you all to JHSSS and encourage you to share your experiences and insights.

Kind Regards
